1. INTRODUCTION

The insurance sector in India has completed a full circle from an open competitive market to nationalization and then back to liberalized open market. LIC of India has been the bystander of the entire transformation from one phase to another. In 2000, when Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDA) was set up in India, 23 more private life insurance companies entered till date into the Indian market other than one already existing public life insurance operator LIC of India. Table 1 give details about total number of life insurance companies operating in India after execution of Economic Reforms in the country. The table includes the entire growth in number of life insurers since 2000-2001 till 2011-2012.

Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (I.R.D.A.) come into function on 19th April, 1999 as an autonomous body in the life insurance sector in India. The main objective of IRDA is to regulate and register the life insurance companies operating in India. With the advent of competition, LIC of India was forced to change its business processes. In January 2000, it adopted three-pronged business strategies for business, which involved reduction in premiums, higher returns and introduction of new products. International consultants Booze Allen & Hamilton were hired in 2000, to advise LIC of India on the changes needed in the organization. In 2001, LIC of India tied up with two payment gateways-Billjunction.com and Timesofmoney.com to set up a facility for policyholders to pay premiums through the Internet. It also tied up with ICICI Bank, HDFC Bank, UTI Bank and Bank of Punjab to directly remit customers' policy premiums and debit their accounts after the transaction. Thereafter, LIC of India has able to continuously manage to work in updating them with the changing trends of the society.
2. LITERATURE REVIEW
While earlier studies on Life Insurance sector has altogether been a general study on overall view of LIC of India. It is relevant to refer briefly to the previous research studies in the related areas of the present study in order to avoid repetition and also to search out the different dimensions of the study. Among earlier studies, Arora (2002) highlighted that LIC was likely to face tough competition from private life insurers in spite of having large conventional network and their skilled intermediaries throughout India. Kumar and Taneja (2004) highlighted the opportunities and challenges before life insurance industry in India due to liberalization, globalization and privatization. Bhattacharya (2005) advocated that bancassurance provided the best opportunities to tap the large potential in rural and semi urban areas. He suggested that the insurers should focus on Single Premium policies, Unit Linked Insurance, Pension Market and Health Insurance. Kumar (2005) highlighted that private insurance players introduced a large range of life insurance products and set brand promotion as a part of their new strategy. These new implemented strategies had flexibility and added benefits to suit the changing needs of the unsatisfied customers. Kulshrestha and Kulshrestha (2006) highlighted that demand for life insurance in rural India was expanding at the annual rate of 18 per cent as compared to 3.9 per cent in urban areas which provided good opportunity for life insurers to perform. Reenu (2011) have highlighted the different strategies in relation to 3Ps under life insurance market. Vikas (2012) have made an effort to analyze a comparative study based on private and public life insurance companies.

The total population of women in India is 614.4 million in comparison to the total men population 655.8 million. It is very essential to have a separate marketing strategy for such a huge populace. Table 3 put in force to have new marketing strategies to be adopted by LIC of India to capture the female market and the present need for women empowerment.

7.2.5 Bancassurance and Alternate Channels
There are many Banks who work as the corporate agents for the corporation and have contributed in the Bima Bank campaign and has encouraged New Business performance. The Bancassurance & Alternate Channels share to total businesses 1.66% in Number of Policies (NOP) and 4.17% in First Premium Income (FPI).

LIC of India have recently finalized a joint venture company in Saudi Arabia and is now planning to foray into New Zealand, Australia and some more Asian and African countries.

7.3 Impact of new marketing strategies adopted by LIC of India on their business volume
We have gone through with the different categories of recent trends in the marketing strategies implemented by LIC of India in past few years at different vicinities. To study the impact of all those marketing strategies adopted by LIC of India on their business volume it is essential for our research study to have an eye on two important pieces of facts. The one to cover is on the count of the number of policies (NOP) and another on the count of premium earned by LIC of India. According to our research methodology the research study will incorporate the entire period right from 2000 to 2012 which will help us to have an analytical vision on the impact of marketing strategies adopted throughout that entire period.

Table 4 gives information regarding the number of policies sold and the premium earned by LIC of India since 2000 till 2012.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Years</th>
<th>No. of Policies (in crores)</th>
<th>Premium underwritten (in ₹ crores)</th>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002-03</td>
<td>24545580</td>
<td>54628.48</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
From table 4 it is clearly observed that there is an overall growth in NOP from 19673320 in 2000-01 to 35751238 in 2011-12 except a small number of down falls in a few years. Despite of few downs in NOP LIC of India has still managed to have a continuous growth in the premium from 36063.28 to 202802.90 from 2000-01 to 2011-12. Those few misses in the count of number of policies have not directly affected the business volume as such. This is a very positive sign for an overall development of the corporation in the changing needs of the society. This can be clearer after studying the two figures, fig.2 and fig. 3 as shown below:

The NOP business of LIC of India shows an overall growth from 2000-01 to 2011-12 with minute fall in past few years.

Premium graph is constantly increasing throughout the period with few falls in last two years. This clearly indicates that the marketing strategies adopted by LIC of India is helpful in increasing their business volume but a lot have to be done in the areas of increasing number of lives which will certainly affect the overall performance of the corporation.
8. CONCLUSIONS

The present state of Life Insurance Sector in India is awe-inspiring as far as the awareness of customers is concerned. The customers of today are well aware about the different alternatives that support them the best to fulfill their desires. LIC of India has well managed to take the spirit of competition in a positive way which has helped the corporation to grow further with high strength of mind in contribution to the growth of the country. There are few more areas where contribution of the corporation in the life insurance sector needs to be updated. The present research study thus reveals those important areas where more contribution on the part of LIC of India is required.

The one is to increase in the number of offices both in urban and rural areas which will help the corporation to increase their business and reach among the customers.

LIC of India should also open more Life-Plus offices and authorized collection centers to make its objectives achieved in true way to spread the life insurance business in every nook and corner of the country.

LIC of India should concentrate on agents’ training to make them updated as per market requirements and professionalism to tackle the queries of customers and doubts raised in their mind by other life insurance competitors of the market.

LIC of India must increase their agent’s base to retain its dominating market share because agents are the backbone of the corporation. The increased number will not only help the corporation to facet their visible presence in the market but also in turn help in increasing their business volume too.
